DETAILED ACTION

Summary

On February 8, 2005, an Office Action was sent to the Applicant rejecting claims 14-29. On November 7, 2005, the Applicant responded by amending claim 14.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 14-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Seaman (US 2004/0098327), as set forth in the previous Office Action.

With regard to claim 14, Seaman discloses providing an option to an issuer of said debt security (p.3, 31—the holder can be anyone holding the security, including the issuer).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed November 7, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Argument: Seaman does not disclose a derivative instrument coupled to a debt security providing an option to purchase shares at a select price at a future date wherein said derivative instrument is itself contingent and may be canceled prior to said future date and payment for said derivative instrument is provided on an installment basis with future obligations extinguished upon cancellation.

Response: Seaman discloses a derivative instrument coupled to a debt security providing an option to purchase shares at a select price at a future date (p.2, 21). The derivative instrument is the embedded option portion, which allows for the debt security (bond) to be exchanged for shares of stock on a selected date at the stock price on the selected date (i.e. convertible bond). The derivative instrument is itself contingent and may be canceled prior to said future date and payment for said derivative instrument is provided on an installment basis with future obligations extinguished upon cancellation. The derivative instrument is contingent (p.1, 9), and may be canceled prior to said future date (p.3, 31—the bond may be structured to automatically cause the cancellation of the convertibility option at maturity). Payment for said derivative instrument is provided on an installment basis (fixed income from the bond) with future obligations extinguished upon cancellation (p.3, 31—the bond may be structured to automatically cause the cancellation of the convertibility option at maturity)

Argument: Seaman does not disclose the term “installment” or “callspread”.

Response: Seaman discloses that the payment for the derivative instrument is provided on an installment basis (the bond portion pays interest income in installments). Seaman discloses a “callspread” (over an extended period of time, the holder has exchange rights based on trigger events that may occur—p.3, 24).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
